Company Overview

Bariteh Trading Company started its activity in the field of mineral production, processing and extraction many years ago with the support of modern knowledge, technical and financial capacity and having experienced and specialized human resources in the field of mineral extraction and processing. This company produces minerals required by various industries using the latest equipment and machines in the world, and all the products of this company are ready to be sent to different countries after undergoing a quality control process and performing laboratory tests based on international standards. Bariteh Trading Company has managed to meet the needs of many traders in this field and become one of the main producers of these products around the world by producing various minerals such as kaolin, ball clay, bentonite, talc, etc.

Business Description

Today, due to the advancement of various industries and technologies, the need for mineral raw materials has increased compared to the past, and all industries in the world need minerals directly and indirectly. These needs have led many companies to start mining. In this industry, many factors are involved in economic and investment, such as mine location, relative grade, texture, composition of minerals, extraction costs and mineral compounds. Many countries in the world have put mineral extraction and processing operations on their agenda. China ranks first with a trade balance of $ 184 billion, and Australia, the United States and Indonesia with a financial balance of 142, 92 and 92 and $ 59 billion, are the second to fourth largest producers of these products in the world, respectively. Bariteh Trading Company is also one of the companies that operates in the field of extraction and processing of various minerals such as kaolin, ball clay, bentonite, talc, feldspar and dolomite.
